

1094 (ELY) Squadron
The Cadet Centre, Heaton Drive
Ely, Cambridgeshire

PRESS RELEASE

9 April 2006

Ely Air Cadet takes on the slopes.

△ Cadet Amelia Hamilton-Kennaway of 1094 (City of Ely) Squadron of the Air Training Corps has just returned from a fun filled week of Skiing on an RAF Sponsored Ski-ing Course.

Amelia was selected along with 34 other cadets from all over the country to attend the RAF Basic Winter Training Course at Oberammergau in Germany. The course is the same one that the regular forces use.

Each day consisted of six hours instruction on the slopes plus further instruction on how to construct snow shelters, avalanche drills etc..

Off duty time in Oberammergau was used to its best advantage with visits to the pool and local restaurants etc.

Amelia who had not skied before achieved her twin goals of her Basic Ski Proficiency Certificate & "one whole day not falling over".

After the course she said "I fully recommend other cadets take advantage of this course, as it has helped be develop as a person, meet many people & gain valuable experience in Alpine conditions with the best instruction available".

/Cont

1094 (ELY) Squadron
The Cadet Centre, Heaton Drive
Ely, Cambridgeshire

1094 Squadron meets on Mondays & Thursdays at the cadet Centre in Heaton Drive, Ely from 19:30 to 21:30.

A Recruit evening for young people interested in joining is being held next Wednesday at 8 pm .

If you are interested in joining come along then or contact Alan Human on 01353 665331

>Ends

