PRESS RELEASE

“We are bovered”

Cadets & Staff from 22 (Sandy) Squadron attended a Parental Awareness Evening at Sandy Upper School on 1st February. The evening was organised by the Head-teacher and Bedfordshire Police Neighbourhood Policing Team.

Parents/carers of years 8 and 9 students from the local Middle Schools and Sandy Upper were invited to attend to see what is on offer within Sandy and Biggleswade for young people.

The evening commenced with a presentation by Sgt Ted Bloodworth on “Am I bovered” about what my child gets up to when they go out, what they could get up to and “Am I bovered” to do anything about it!

The Commanding Officer of the Squadron gave a quick resume of the Squadron activities, following which parents/carers had an opportunity to discuss the activities available with the Staff and Cadets. A potential recruit, Jack Daniels seemed particularly interested in the display boards and the various uniforms the Cadets were wearing.

The Cadets also helped out Andrew Boness from Biggleswade St John’s Ambulance by offloading a mini Ambulance vehicle from the real one.

The evening concluded with meeting and greeting the various local youth scheme representatives before light refreshments were served.
