PRESS RELEASE

COUNCILLOR GETS HIS OWN BACK

When local Councillor Max McMurdo heard that a boxing glove once worn by top boxer Amir Khan was on offer at a Charity Auction organised by the Air Cadets at Sandy Squadron, and that BBC Three Counties Radio's presenter John Pilgrim was going to be the Auctioneer, he decided to try the glove out! On John! John didn't mind because he is getting used to 'Taking it on the chin from Max'. And it's all in a good cause, for Keech Cottage Children's Hospice.

If you can make it to the auction you could become the proud owner of any number of items that are up for grabs, including a signed pen from the Prime Minister, a signed Renault team cap from Alonzo, bottles of wine and champagne, tickets to Kensington Palace and the Royal Dress Collection and a signed print from The Red Arrows.

The Auction will take place on Friday 6th October at Russell Hall, Shuttleworth College from 7.30pm. Entrance is free, lot programmes are £1. There will be light refreshments and the bar will be open. For further details log onto the Squadron website at www.sandy-aircadets.org.uk news section and follow the link.
