Quiz Night

Four cadets from 134 (Bedford) Squadron were on hand to assist at the annual Neighbourhood Watch charity quiz, held at the Bedfordshire Police Headquarters last week.

Cadets Bradley, Pickering, O'Neil and Cotton had all volunteered to lend a hand for the evening on Thursday 22nd October. The cadets helped by collecting the teams answer papers after each round.

Newly elected Bedford town Mayor, Dave Hodgson who had been in post less than a week captained one of the many teams all competing and hoping to be crowned champions in the wide ranging quiz.

Mayor Dave Hodgson spent time during the evening chatting to the cadets, where he said "I am particularly impressed with the efficiency and politeness of the cadets" He also commented that their turnout was notable.

Following the final round, it was a nervous wait for the teams before the winners were announced, The mayoral team which has historically always done well came a very respectable 4th.

Civilian Instructor, Mr Chris Wiggins who supervising the cadets concluded "I was very pleased with the number of positive comments received about the department, smartness and politeness of the four cadets involved. The evening went very smoothly, hopefully in part, due to the assistance offered by these cadets"
