PRESS RELEASE

AIR CADET LEADERSHIP

Corporals Daniel Woods and Alex Ogden from 1220 (March) Squadron Air Cadets attended two of the best Air Cadet Leadership courses during the summer. Daniel travelled to RAF Cranwell in Lincolnshire, to attend the Air Cadet Leadership course and Alex went to Frimley Park near Farnborough to join cadets from other cadet forces for a joint cadet leadership course.

During both courses the cadets were put through their paces with regular kit inspections, various command tasks and a tough 2 mile log run. They were expected to immediately mix and work well with cadets from all over the country that they had never met before. For Daniel the hi-light was the Night Navigation exercise and Alex particularly enjoyed being able to do the assault course at Sandhurst College.

Back at the squadron Daniel and Alex are putting their newly enhanced leadership skills to use as they are the Junior NCO's on the Squadrons Training Flight. The squadron has recently had a new intake of cadets and the two Corporals are responsible for mentoring them during their initial training period.
